News & Reviews

Bonkers Conkers and Marble Madness!

Commonly known as the horse chesnut, this particular brown nut shaped object has been synonymous with a deadly game of skill and cunning known as CONKERS!

The rules of engagement are simple, find a conker that has a good hardness/size ratio, string it up then proceed to destroy your enemy.

Overall quite a stressful affair, but a pleasing one none the less! The NSS convened upon the fantastic new Art Room in Aras na MacLeinn with the usual amount of tea and silliness that has come to be expected of them. The evening saw money being raised for A.W.A.R.E. by way of encouraging all participants to donate a small sum to enter.

The games themselves ranged from displays of outright terror to more comical drawn out affairs featuring people who'd never strung s conker up in their lifes! But it came down to sheer muscle memory as the schoolyard kings and queens were soon crowned and awarded Nutella! (one jar of which could sustain a hardy man for 16 months).

Also making an appearance were marbles, the sophisticated primary school classic. A game of class indeed, it certainly was a soothing experience that took place amid piles of smashed conkers and bits of string.

All in all, bruised knuckles, broken conkers but fun times!

The NSS would like to thank all our plucky contestants and anyone who donated on the day.

Tuesday night in Lit&Deb is Workshop Night, where over the course of 20-odd weeks fresh-faced novice debaters are transformed into machines of logic and rhetoric. Workshop 4 is a continuation of the basic basics, concentrating on burdens of proof, model construction, 15-minutes prep etc. Followed by a practice debate.

And as usual, Galway night-life will follow...

The NSS logo contest!

Greetings good people of NUIG

The Nothing Specific Society are hosting a contest for all you would be designers out there.

Our current logo, a 16 pixel red duck, while having served us well needs revamping! So what we are proposing is for anyone who thinks they have a talent for graphics or drawing to send your designs to us for judging. The eventual winner will have the honour of having their logo used on all official NSS documentation and also receive a FABULOUS prize!

To enter, send your design with your name to nss@socs.nuigalway.ie or if you're proper old school you can arrange to meet a committee member to hand it over in person!

Some general guidelines (not rules!)

- 1) The duck aspect is quite important
- 2) NSS apparently have official colours of red and yellow
- 3) Be creative!!!!

In closing, best of luck to all entrants and lets give this duck some non specific upgrading!

G'luck!

Best known for his work on the Blizzard of Odd, RTE's The Panel and BBC'S Blame Game, Colin Murphy is one of the finest comedians working today. His distinct fusion of edgy 'in your face' topical satire, with acute observational m...aterial make him a highly original and much sought after performer.

Discard all the preconceived notions you may have about ventriloquists because multi award winner, Nina Conti and monkey will blow them away. Gut -bustingly funny she displays the kind of sophisticated intelligence that can virtually reinvent the genre. For any self -respecting adult looking for comedy that's truly outside the norm she is unmissable.

Knowing Me/ Knowing You -Society Questionnaire

1. What is your society?

BACon Soc, the vegetarian friendly Connection Society.

2. In 5 words or less how would you describe your society?

Bacon, awesome, pun, creative, collaboration.

3. What was your society's last event?

We put on a robot themed flash mob. Basically we danced the robot all over the smoking area in The Bialann to the twangy techno strains of 'Robot Rock' and 'The Safety Dance'. ArtSoc painted our faces to resemble our robetronic future overlords and we were wearing ARK (Acts of Random Kindness) t-shirts in an effort to raise awareness about a cool charity and the dangers of face-based paints. The video's all over the internets, just check out YouTube or the Socs'-What's-Happening webzine.

4. What are you looking forward to doing the most this year?

We've got a lot of ideas but I guess we just want to establish our society while having good craic and forming relationships with the other socs and clubs. Also we're working with Chemistry Soc and the Aquatic Soc to bioengineer a shark with a frickin' LASER BEAM on it's head.

5. How did you get involved in your society in the first place?

Me and my friends in Creative Writing, one of the BA Connect programmes, wanted to try and get some inter-departmental co-operation going on and it kind of snowballed into the collaborative societal beast you see before you.

6. What is the greatest challenge your society has overcome?

I can't speak for everyone else but my biggest challenge has been containing myself. With all the ideas we've got it's easy to get excited and take on way too much and that's one quick way of releasing a mutated sea bass into the Corrib. Not that that's happened. Yet.

7. If your society had to run from a burning building what one thing would you bring with you?

Our mystery box. I can't tell you why, or what's in it, or when it first coalesced into existence, or why my Uncle Oswald pees himself whenever I mention it but it's definitely what I'd take. Or a fire hose.

8. What is your idea of a perfect Sunday?

Kenan & Kel marathon, copious amounts of chocolate and milk, having a roundtable at Master Lee's Chinese Restaurant by Kelly's (PLUG!), then dancing the night into submission with my friends.

9. What is your society's favourite colour?

It's definitely either blue or chartreuse.

10. If your society had an action figure, who would it be?

Mighty Morphin' Power Ranger's Megazords! They combine into one all powerful mecha to defeat all comers whether it be Rita Repulsa or one of Lord Zedd's enlarged household objects. WHITE RANGER RULES!

11. What is your favourite crisp flavour?

Buffalo.

12. Who do you look up to the most?

I would have to say Godzilla. Recent reports suggest that he only destroys the homes of people who are in economic freefall and have adequate insurance policies to cover the damages and restart their financial portfolios. Also he's huge.

13. If your society was a board game, what would you be?

Definitely Connect 4 because we bring people together. Also, everyone gets a go and we're easy. Ladies.

14. What would your society's theme tune be?

We've written our own already, but I suppose 'The Safety Dance' or Audio slave's 'Cochise' work too.

15. What's your society's Motto?

Have fun, meet people, make connections (and puns).

16. What is the meaning of life?

To love and be loved, to live and be happy. Don't be a tool. Wear a lot of sunscreen. They don't have the correct bungee jumping equipment in Rio de Janeiro. Or Reno. The most important thing in life, is just one thing. It's up to you whatever that one thing is.
