FanSci Spotlight:

FanSci is a Fantasy, Science Fiction and Gaming Society. On Mondays at 7pm in the McMunn Theatre in the Concourse we have screenings of science fiction and fantasy movies or series, upcoming films include the Princess Bride and the Rocky Horror Picture Show.

On Wednesdays at 6pm in AC202 in the Concourse we play games. We play boardgames, cardgames, wargames and roleplaying games. It's a lot of fun. You don't need to know anything or bring anything. Just drop in and we'll grab a game and teach you how to play. New people are always welcome and we hope to see you there.

We also have special events throughout the year. The biggest of these are conventions. Conventions are big gaming weekends where you can meet people from around the country and have a fantastic time. Our own convention Itzacon is in February, but we visit other conventions as well. Recently we went to Sligo for Confess. It was amazing. There were great games, wonderful people, and some really exciting charity events. There are a lot more upcoming conventions and you should definitely try to come along.

Societies Halloween Ball

So it's that special time of year again, when kids are happy, parents are arriving home, laden with gifts, families come together and the warmth of the season touches us all. It's a time when we can forget the wrongs we may have inflicted on each other and just forgive, stand in the living room studying at length the moves to thriller to really wow the neighbours and then we celebrate with food, love and some really, really good T.V and students have decided that the best way to spend the festive season (that's Halloween, not Christmas!) is to cover their faces with strange masks and make-up and other horrible ghastly stuff, and gather together in a large, near abandoned hotel and celebrate societies style! Yes, we are once again headed for the Warwick this Wednesday to celebrate what has quickly become a Galway tradition, from it's humble beginnings in An Pucan, that is, the Societies Halloween Ball! And guess what? It's all in support of Cancer Care West!

With Quiz Soc organising Ghoulish Games, FilmSoc projecting terrifying imagery, and many other societies getting down and dirty with their disguised Halloween selves, this is something not to be missed! So take your chance, be who you want to be, even if it's for only one night. The Socs Halloween ball is waiting for you, whoever you choose to be. Don't miss out, as horror abounds, the witching hour approaches, and candlelit jack-o-lanterns light the way!

Tickets are now on sale from the Socs Box and they're selling quickly, so don't miss out on several hundred of you and your compatriots enjoying a night of debauchery and madness in the beautifully decorated Warwick Hotel, and of course like any epic memorable party, it's starting off in our own College Bar! So what more do you need to know? Get down to the Socs Box, get yourself a ticket, and get your friends to do it too! After all, what is Halloween if not a time of togetherness? Kinda like Christmas, but with more dead people.

Mushroom Hunt and Spit Roast Lamb

The Organic Gardening Society had a lovely day out last Sunday in conjunction with slow Food Galway. The bus set off at 11:00am from the Quad and arrived in Petersburg Outdoor Education Centre, just outside Clonbur, at 12. There was some lovely vegetable soup for lunch which is exactly what you want before you set out foraging for mushrooms in the rain. Lecturer Louis Smith from G.M.I.T. and expert mushroom hunter then gave a brief talk on fungi. We dispersed into the woods with our guides and regrouped later to discuss what had been found. Boletus and hedgehog mushrooms were among the edible species collected while more were poisonous, there are no certain rules for fungi and each species has to be examined individually. We all met back in the outdoor education school after where the lamb had been turning over the fire all afternoon. The food was certainly the highlight of the day with cheesy potato, chick pea salad and many other delicious vegetarian options as well as the mouth watering lamb, a big thank you to all those involved for all their hard work. With more than twice the expected number of people they had their hands but still managed to do a great job.
